

Student Software Engineer

Position Status:	part-time, fixed-term contract
Division:	Lancaster University Leipzig School of Computing and Communications
Location:	Leipzig, Germany
Salary:	12€/h (further details on request)

You are creative, committed and want to gain practical work experience alongside your studies? Are you interested in topics such as mobile app development and software engineering?

Then apply to us now! Lancaster University Leipzig and the Department of Computing and Communication is looking for a Student Software Engineer.

Key Responsibilities:

- Engineering and testing of a new mobile app
- Establishing an appropriate testing regime
- Writing code documentation

Your Profile:

- Enrolled student at a University in Germany
- Good to very good academic performance
- Strong communication skills (written and spoken) in English
- Excellent software engineering skills (in any language)

Enquiries and applications, including both a CV and code sample/GitHub link, should be sent to:

Dr James Stovold (Assistant Professor in Computer Science): j.stovold@lancaster.ac.uk

Application Deadline: Friday, 28. April 2023, 17:00