Pioneering academic research

Lancaster University Leipzig is renowned for its outstanding research in both Computer Science and Management. Together, these two fields establish the University as a hub for pioneering academic insights and practical solutions.

The University's Computer Science department is at the forefront of innovative technologies, exploring areas like artificial intelligence, data analytics, and cyber security.

The University's management research is similarly influential, focusing on leadership, organisational behaviour, and strategic management, providing valuable insights for businesses and policy-makers alike.

Your career opportunities

Leipzig is the fastest-growing city in Germany, with five main industries: Automotive, Logistics, IT & Media, Biotech and Energy. As an LU Leipzig student, you will have access to our network of companies in these sectors, and our Careers Centre will provide you with personalised support in securing employment during (if applicable) and after your studies.

International passport holders are eligible for an 18-month post-study work visa, giving you access to Germany's thriving job market, while your Lancaster University degree will be recognised by employers around the world.

Scholarships available

Lancaster University Leipzig offers a range of merit-based, early acceptance, and region-specific scholarships to support students in their studies. Discover the opportunities available to you and how to apply.
